

Patchy Particles and Surfaces of Engineered Heterogeneity: From Synthesis to Dynamic Function

High throughput nanoscale patterning using particle lithography – characterizations with atomic force microscopy

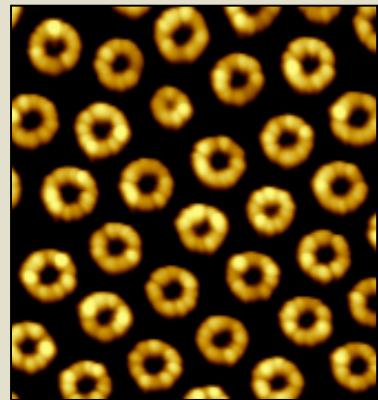

Jayne C. Garno
Chemistry Department
Louisiana State University
Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70803
jgarno@lsu.edu

238th ACS National Meeting
Washington DC
August 19, 2009

Defining Spatial Selectivity Using Nanopatterns of Organosilane SAMs

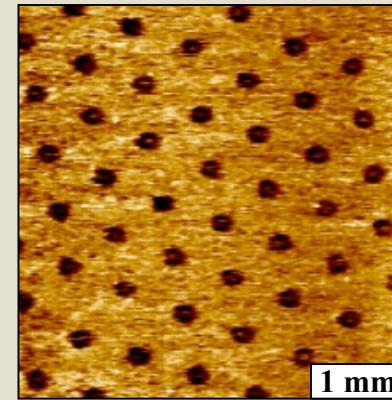

PEG

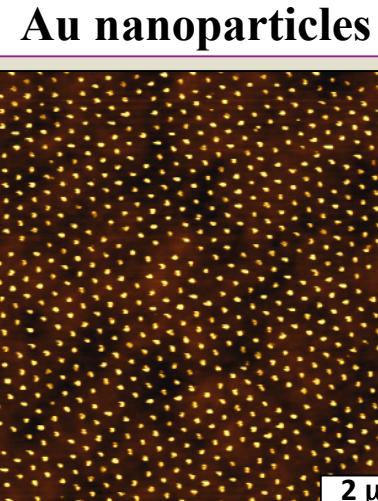

MPTMS

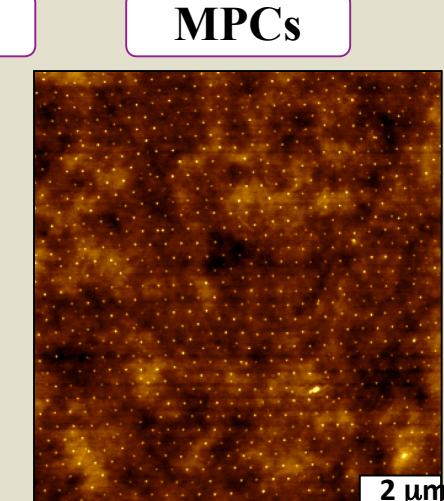

APTMS

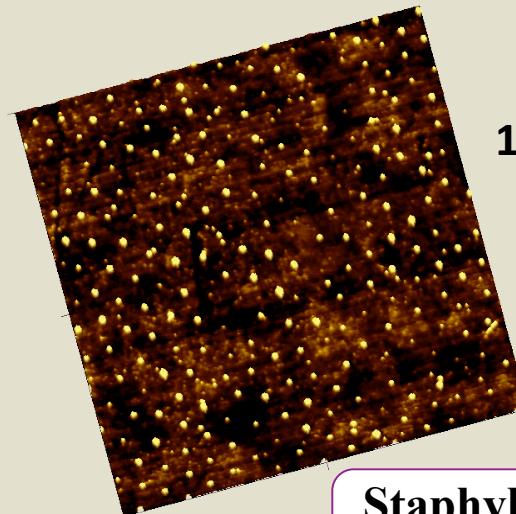

OTS

Au nanoparticles

MPCs

Staphylococcal protein A

Li, J.-R., Garno, J. C., Nano Letters, 2008, 8, 1916.

Li, J.-R.; Lusker, K. L.; Yu, J. J.; Garno, J. C., ACS Nano, 2009, 3, 2023.

Investigation of the magnetic properties of ferritin by contact mode AFM imaging combined with magnetic sample modulation

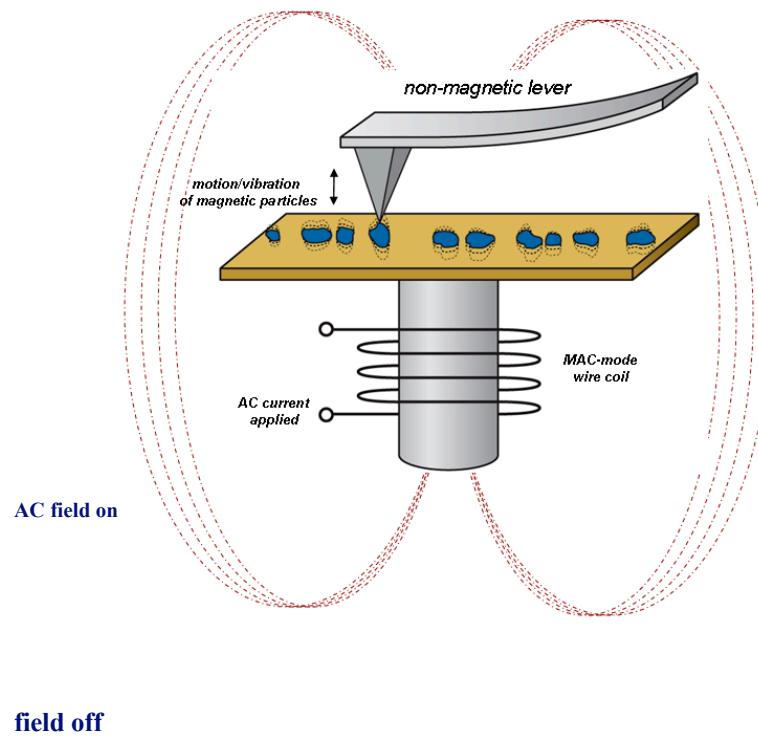

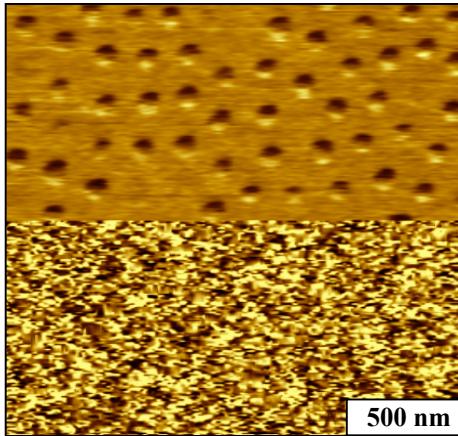

The sample plate contains a wire solenoid to drive the vibration of magnetic samples.

Topography

MSM image

Hybrid imaging mode using contact AFM with an AC Mac-mode field and a nonmagnetic tip to achieve selective modulation of magnetic nanomaterials.

Daniels, S. L.; Ngunjiri, J. N.; Garno, J. C.* Analytical and Bioanalytical Chem, 2009, 394, 215.

Li, J.-R.; Lewandowski, B. R.; Garno, J. C., Anal. Chem, 2009, 81, 4792.

Serem, W. K.; Varotto, A.; Castro, G.; Drain, C. M.; Garno, J. C. NOBCChE Proc., Philadelphia, PA, 2008.